Olympic Ace Johnson Speaks at SJS May 15

Olympic champion and former decathlon world record holder, Jeff Johnson will speak Wednesday, May 15, in TH55 at 12:30 p.m. as part of an International Week program.

Dr. Carl Rogers Slated To Speak At Psych Meeting

Dr. Carl R. Rogers, renowned lecturer and originator of the school of client-centered therapy, will be keynote speaker of the fifth annual Spartan Psychological Association meeting which opens its two-day convention activities today.

Dr. Rogers will speak on "Towards a Modern Approach to Values" tomorrow night at 8 in the Men's Gymnasium. He will discuss "the change in the value orientation of the individual from infancy to average adulthood, and from this adult status to a greater degree of psychological maturity attained through psychotherapy or fortunate life circumstances."

Dr. Rogers will advance a theory relative to "the valuing process within the human individual" and discuss circumstances under which this process is effective.

Dr. Rogers is currently on leave from the University of Wisconsin to do work at the Center for the Advanced Study of Behavioral Sciences, Stanford.

The convention, sponsored by the Psychology Department and Psi Chi, national psychology honorary society, is completely devoted to the reading of original research papers written by SJS students. Many of the manuscripts are preparations for master's theses.

The research paper judged best will win its author three psychology volumes. Listeners may enter and depart between the oral presentations, which run about 15 minutes each with 5-minute question periods.

American college students and visiting foreign students."

The ASB Intercultural Steering Committee, which invited the world and Olympic decathlon record holder, recently became a member of the People-to-People program.

Johnson has traveled to more than 40 countries as an "athletic diplomat" on behalf of the U.S. State Department. He has visited Russia, India, Europe, and the Middle East.

The 27-year-old Johnson was graduated from UCLA in 1959 where he was president of the student body. His activities at UCLA included track and basketball teams, upper division honor society, Pi Lambda Phi fraternity and Gold Key.

After setting a world record decathlon mark in the 1960 Rome Olympics, he was voted athlete of the year by several organizations.

In addition to receiving other athletic awards, Johnson was named by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce one of the most outstanding men of 1960.

Johnson plans to study dentistry. He lives in Los Angeles with his parents, two sisters and his brother Jim, who plays professional football for the San Francisco 49ers. Another brother is married and also lives in Los Angeles.

Johnson's hobbies include music, photography and reading. He is an assistant to UCLA track coach "Ducky" Drake.

ROTC Leaders To Ponder Changes

Three company commanders of Pershing Rifles, national military honorary society fraternity, will meet at University of Santa Clara tonight at 8.

San Jose State, University of San Francisco, and University of Santa Clara company commanders will meet to discuss the affect on them if ROTC in college becomes a two-year program, according to John Mark Pesek III, public relations captain.

Also, the commanders plan to discuss last week's convention at El Paso, Tex., and the SJS problem of the main regiment being in Arizona, making control and communication difficult.

PEACOCK'S TALE

Dr. Hodges Will Discuss Boorstin Book Today—12:30

"America and the Image of Europe," by Daniel Boorstin is the book Dr. Harold M. Hodges, associate professor of sociology, will review at the 12:30 book talk this afternoon in rooms A and B of the college cafeteria.

Dr. Hodges, referring to Boorstin as an intellectual iconoclast, says the author delights the reader by taking our intellectual clichés, such as the myth of America's uniqueness, and tearing them apart.

"The author is sort of waspish," commented Professor Hodges. "He is impatient with sloppy thinking and writing when the person has equipment to use it properly. He is an intellectual snob."

Float Chairmen Meeting Tonight

A special meeting of Homecoming float chairmen will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Theta Xi house, 135 S. 10th St.

Dave Traverso, committee publicity chairman, invites representatives from the campus organizations and living centers to attend the meeting. Float rules and entry forms will be available.

Boorstin, a professor of history at University of Chicago, wrote many magazine articles appearing in American Scholar, Commentary, Partisan Review, and Antioch Review.

Dr. Hodges, receiving his Ph.D. at University of Southern California in 1955, came to San Jose State in 1957.

Register Tomorrow For Lassen Park Field Study Trip

Registration for the Lassen National Park session, slated for June 9 to 14, of Field Studies in Natural History will begin tomorrow at 8 a.m. in the lobby of the new science wing.

One unit of credit, which can be used to fulfill part of the science requirement for graduation, is granted for the week-long session. Tuition is $20.

"All of the work is done at the park, as the major portion of the work is actual outdoor experience," explained Mrs. Dorothy Ellis, school secretary. "The fact that formal instruction is not required is an attribute," she added.

This year students will camp out in a new campground bordering on Manzanita Lake. Everyone will sign into a cooking group and take his turn at cooking and washing dishes.

"The program is arranged so that all students will cover each of the study areas—animals, rocks, insects, trees and wild flowers," Mrs. Ellis said. Students are assigned to trail groups which are rotated so as to include each of the areas.

Faculty for the Lassen session, the first of three to be held this summer, will be: Dr. Carl D. Duncan, chairman of the natural sciences area; Dr. Wayne E. Kartchner, head of the geology dept.; Dr. A. G. Applegate, professor of zoology and science education; and Dr. Thomas Harvey, associate professor of biology, who is school director. Byron Bollinger will be camp director.

A junior program, for youngsters seven through 15, will be conducted this year. Miss Vera Raab, teacher in the Los Gatos schools, will be director.

Sequoia National Park is the location for the second session of the field school, set for June 16 to 21. The last session will be held June 23-28 at Cambria Pines, on the coast near the Hearst Castle.

Council Narrowly Defeats Larson's Party Moratorium

After a two and a half hour heated debate, Student Council last night defeated a 13-month moratorium on campus political parties proposed by Steve Larson, ASB vice president.

Chief opponent to the proposal was Rod Diridon, graduate representative, who said, "I strongly feel that we (Student Council) cannot limit the student right to organize into political parties. That document (referring to the proposed moratorium) would have been completely impossible and improper to enforce."

Final vote results were: 6, yes; 7, no; 1, abstention.

Although the moratorium was killed, part of the original proposal, which requested that the political party matter be sent to the College Life Committee for study and investigation, was passed.

Larson emphasized that he proposed the moratorium because of the lack of competition in the recent ASB election. He pointed to the case in which only one of the five executive council positions were contested.

Concerning the rejection of his proposed moratorium, the president-elect said, "I am disappointed that the moratorium was defeated but I still consider that the heart of the proposal was in the section requesting the matter be sent to the College Life Committee."

Larson said he has met with the secretary of the committee and the group will meet during the summer and will present its recommendations at the first council meeting in the fall.

The College Life Committee is composed of college administrators, student government representatives and students-at-large.

ASB Pres. Bill Hauck summed up the current political party situation as "a big mess in our own backyard." Current criticism "may form bad footing for next year's administration," he said.

Most council members echoed Larson's statement that a lack of competition was bad for the general student body and that a one-party system has many disadvantages.

Diridon maintained that if council passed the moratorium, the group "would be admitting it did not advocate political parties and wanted to wash its hands of the matter."

Fowl Play? Fans Find Feathers

The Peacock's been found! Monday, at 9:45 a.m., two intrepid hunters of the "Peacock" found the elusive "bird" behind Blooms Women's Shoe Shop at 135 S. First St.

The two hunters, Jim Bullitt, senior real estate major and Roger Slatt, junior geology major, found the final clue in Thursday's Spartan Daily classified section. The clue read, "Traditional Room, capezio . . ." Capezio is a shoe sold only at Bloom's.

The other Peacocks were placed, with full co-operation of the stores, by the Daily ad staff, in Howard Peterson's Valley Fair; Montgomery Ward's, on First Street, under a mannequin display in the mezzanine; J. Silber on First Street and in Bloom's, also on First Street.

The two winners contacted Max Bloom, store manager, fidgeted a bit, and then ran for the San Jose campus and the Spartan Daily advertising office.

Bullitt stated that he and his group, numbering seven, "pounded the pavement" and went into all the Daily's advertisers in the First Street area before finding the Peacock.

ASB Officers Attend Idaho Conference

Three of San Jose State's top student government representatives left early this morning for Sun Valley, Idaho, to attend the annual Pacific Student Presidents' Assn. (PSPA) conference slated for today through Saturday.

ASB President Bill Hauck, Vice President Steve Larson and Bob Pisano, Student Council vice chairman, left San Francisco International Airport to attend the leadership conference for student presidents and officers.

The SJS delegation's main interest, according to Larson, is a resolution concerning the National Education Improvement Act of 1963, recently endorsed by Student Council, that lends the support of PSPA to the bill currently before Congress.

The four-day conference is a gathering of student representatives from 13 western states, and consists of workshops dealing with problems of student government administration and general student concern, according to Larson.

Faculty Sends Trio To Academic Body

Faculty members and administrators, voting to select three representatives to the Academic Senate of the California state colleges, have chosen Dr. Dean R. Cresap, professor of political science, Dr. James P. Heath, professor of zoology, and Dr. William R. Rogers, professor of education.

Dr. Cresap will represent the Humanities and Arts Division; Dr. Heath will represent the Sciences and Occupations Division; and Dr. Rogers will represent all other divisions and the administrative area.

The results were announced by Mr. Lowell C. Pratt, college publications manager.

Seat Belt Sale Starts Monday

May is Safety Seat Belt Month, and starting Monday SJS students will have the opportunity to purchase and have installed, special priced automobile seat belts.

Last year 1,100 were sold during the two-week campaign. Belts will sell for $6.19 at the Spartan Bookstore, and will be installed for $1.50 at the corner of 8th and San Carlos Streets.

COMMUNISTS SCORE BIG GAIN IN ITALY

ROME (UPI)—The powerful Communist party polled one out of every four votes in Italy's crucial national elections and served notice yesterday that this country should chart a "new political course."

Communist party leader Palmiro Togliatti, in a post-election statement, indicated that the Reds would pull the political rug out from under Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani and his center-left government.

The Red boss hinted that his party's victory should bring the Socialists back to the Communist fold. The Socialists, headed by Pietro Nenni, have been supporting Fanfani's coalition regime.

Togliatti hinted that the Communists and Socialists, who between them could carry nearly 40 per cent of the votes in Parliament, could decide what road this country should follow in the next five years.

TRUCE TEAM FINDS CARIBBEAN QUIET

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—A five-man truce team from the Organization of American States arrived yesterday for on-the-spot efforts to stave off threatened war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

But truce-team members saw no evidence of military movements in Port-au-Prince, at least at the airport where their commercial transport landed. Two U.S. Marine Corps helicopters were on the field.

The helicopters were assumed to be here to aid in the withdrawal of the 30-man U.S. Naval training mission which Haiti called on the United States to pull out Friday.

Only the usual handful of Haitian army transport craft was in evidence at the airfield. In downtown Port-au-Prince, apparent calm existed. There was no sign of unusual military activity.

The OAS group confirmed on its arrival that Haiti, as pledged, had withdrawn police forces from the Dominican Embassy, as demanded by the Dominican government.

GOLDWATER CRITICIZES FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, (R-Ariz.), said yesterday the Federal Office of Education simply will not let the nation overcome its school classroom shortage.

He accused the office of "manufacturing" figures to show the existence of a shortage in order to drum up support for federal aid to education.

The Arizona Republican, a prospective candidate for next year's GOP presidential nomination, said the massive federal aid sought by the administration is not needed.

States and local school districts have been rapidly meeting education needs, he said, but the Office of Education refuses to recognize this and continues to turn out "propaganda" aimed at increasing federal control.

EXAMINING a point of interest along the road, this group of SJS students who attended a previous session of Field Studies in Natural History, Mt. Lassen can be seen in the distance. This year's session will be held June 9-14. One unit of college credit is granted. Registration starts tomorrow morning at 8.

SJS Coed Wins Beauty Crown

By CAROL SWENSEN
A balance of charm, beauty, intelligence and personality is often hard to find.

But the newly selected Miss Greater San Jose has all these attributes rolled into one. Her Name is Jo Waltermire, a pert lass from Medford, Ore. and the type you like "right from the start."

Jo, sophomore speech and drama major, headed the list of pageant winners from San Jose State Saturday night. Karen McKinney, sophomore physical education major, took the first runner-up honors and Janet Ross, freshman radio and television major, placed second runner-up and won the Miss Swim-suit trophy.

In the pageant, sponsored by the San Jose Junior Chamber of Commerce, Miss Waltermire also won the Miss Talent trophy, singing two selections from "Carnival," "Love Makes the World Go Round," and "Mira."

Jo's background in voice, acting and drama helped her attain the crown. She appeared very relaxed and put much expression into her presentation of the two Broadway show tunes.

Her ability to answer quickly was shown when the master of ceremonies asked each of the five finalists two questions. Here are her questions and answers.

"Would you go out with any boy who wears that greasy kid stuff?"

"I don't know any boys who use that greasy kid stuff."

"What do you think of the Peace Corps?"

"I think it is a very good thing and I wish I were one of them."

The gray-eyed brunette was one of 40 contestants at the start of the contest. "You never think of yourself as the winner," remarked the pretty coed. "I always thought one of the other girls would get it."

After the pageant, Jo was congratulated by coed friends from Gordon Hall, her boyfriend, Pete

MUN Thanks Daily: 'Excellent' Coverage

Editor:
The first ones we wish to thank for contributing to the success of our 13th Annual Model United Nations Session here is you—the SPARTAN DAILY staff.

You were very generous to us, especially in affording the Session a special issue, opening day. This drew many favorable comments from delegates.

Of course, we feel one reporter in particular should be singled out for our special appreciation, Diane Judge, who probably felt she had drawn the short straw among your assignment beats, did an excellent job of covering Model United Nations.

We know there must be many others on your staff who helped too. To all of them, we extend a sincere "thanks."

Gene Beley, Director
Office of Public Information
Model United Nations

Reader Continues Yesterday's Letter

But what do these people who stand against the MUN really stand for? It seems to me that they are anti-Communists who have somehow tangled the name of the U.N. with the Communist movement. They have come to believe in the delusion that the Communists are overrunning the world, and scared of their own imagination, are trying hard to "alert" the college community to a plight that only they can see.

What these people fail to see is that a person can be anti-Communist and still want to hear Fedorenko's speech. I feel that what these people have lost sight of is the idea that the best way to win out over the Communists is to strengthen our own basic philosophies, that of democracy and the rights of men. Blindly attacking such ideals as free speech is no way to strengthen democracy. It is lamentable that the anti-MUN cannot see this.

I Smell a Pole, Cat

One reason I am always so excited about things in general is that every morning I get a surprise. It's not that everybody plans to surprise me each day, it's just that so many interesting things happen around here all the time, that I'm bound to be completely dumbfounded at least once a day.

Today's little gem occurred when I walked into the Spartan Daily office and heard a hubbub of hoarse humming coming from the Sports Desk.

Now I usually never go near the Sports Desk, on account of the guys that hang around there are kind of the dregs of collegiate journalism, but this morning they all looked so excited and busy that I dropped to the floor and slithered (like a hungry python) on my stomach from desk to desk until I was cleverly crouched behind the wastebasket next to the copydesk.

"... so then he said they were going to break a world record in the event for sure," John Henry was saying. John Henry, I might interject at this point, is an ex-Daily Sports Editor and kind of the chiefest dreg from the deepest part of the dreg barrel who hangs around the sports desk.

"The heck you say," came the astonished reply from Dan McLean (bubble-gum chewing Daily sportswriter and minor dreg), "a real world record?"

I inched closer to the wastebasket, expertly dodging an orange peel and a wad of bubble gum (McLean goes through bubble gum like John Henry goes through Canadian Club) and listened some more.

"Yes, it's the oldest world's record in the book," Henry was saying. "It was set many, many years ago."

"The heck you say," came the statement from Mike Murphy, Daily Photo Editor. "Many, many years ago?" (Murphy, according to Henry, is trying to work his way up into the dregs.)

I could stand it no longer. I had to know what new event the track department had gone and cooked up behind my back. So, I carefully inched my way back (dodging another wad of bubble gum) from desk to desk until I reached one with a phone.

"Coach Winter, please," I whispered huskily into the receiver. "One moment," came the low pitched, sensual voice of the office secretary, Luanne by name. I made a mental note to drop into the sports department some day and then the coach was on the phone.

"Say sir," I said, trying to sound like a sports writer, "I unnerstan' (sports writers use a lot of slang) you've reinstated one of the grandest old events in trackdom."

"Yes," he said. "We have reinstated one of the grandest old events in all trackdom." (Coaches, the sports boys tell me, have a great way with quotable expressions.)

"What event," I said, (trying not to sound stupid) are you reinstating?"

"Pole vault for distance, stupid," Winter said. "I thought everybody knew that."

"It's the oldest record in the record book," he added, "set by a gentleman named Platt Adams in 1910. The record was set in New York, and stands at 28 feet 2 inches."

"With the new fiberglass pole, we'll get some interesting comments."

"Thanks, coach," I said, and then snuck in the big question: "Do you think a world record may fall on Spartan Field Saturday?"

"Yes," he said, "I think a world record may fall on Spartan Field Saturday."

Remember, sports fans, you read it here first.

Spring Concert Has Overflow Crowd

With persons flowing out of the door into the foyer, I stood at the stage door and listened to a superb combined men's and women's glee club go through a variety of songs. They were testing their ability at fortes and pianissimos at their annual spring concert. Strongly led by Dr. Gus Lease, associate professor of music, the men's glee club and women's altos responded with fullness. The sopranos were a bit forced and tinny.

Several persons sitting on the hall floor near me commented that it "would have been nice to have the concert scheduled for two evenings." I heartily agreed and shifted to my other foot. The entire concert was recorded—if that is a consolation—and will be available at the A/V Center for anyone wanting to hear it. It was an entertaining evening and the audience showed its appreciation by hearty applause. The resounding clapping is any performer's reward.

CONCERT HALL LIVELY

Directed by Prof. Edwin C. Dunning, the Opera Workshop will conduct its first operatic excerpts of this semester in Concert Hall at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Presented will be aires from "Faust," "Aida," "Madama Butterfly," and "Rigoletto."

The workshop will be without benefit of costumes or scenery. It will be sung in the original languages and ensemble scenes are presented in English.

A scholarship concert is also planned for tomorrow evening at 8:30 in Concert Hall to benefit musical students in their studies. The concert is performed by members of the Music Department faculty and several students.

Tickets are $1 for students, $2 for general. They may be purchased at the Music Building box office in the afternoon or at the door.

LET'S MAKE BELIEVE WE'RE...

Tickets for the "Sparta Sings" concert Friday evening are on sale in front of the cafeteria and the bookstore. Twenty living groups will be participating in the annual event. Theme for the evening is, "Let's Make Believe We're..." Rehearsals for these groups are this afternoon from 3 to 6 in Concert Hall.

The Jaycees presented Jo with two dozen red roses, the pageant trophy, the talent trophy, her crown, and a trip to Los Angeles in June.

June will also bring more excitement for the new queen. Jo will represent San Jose in the Miss California Pageant. She plans to sing the same songs that won the San Jose pageant for her.

Good luck, Jo; San Jose is backing you all the way.

Orchesis Dance Concert May 2-4

The orchesis department of the College The Women's Recreation Association will present its annual Spring Dance Concert May 2-4 beginning at 8:15 p.m. in the College Theater.

According to Mrs. Carol Haws, assistant professor of physical education, the dances are presented by students of various majors and will include such numbers as the "Cindy," the "Allemande," and the "Farandale."

The concert also schedules such dances as "A Fly Was Drinking From My Cup," and "Soldier, Soldier, Will You Marry Me Now?"

Tickets, available 1-5 p.m. today and until May 4, are $1 general admission and 50 cents with ASB card.

High School Craftwork On Exhibit

SJS Industrial Arts Department will be the scene of preliminary judging of high school entries for the California Spring Fair and Exposition in Sacramento.

High school students from five counties will compete for cash premiums in the areas of electronics, handicraft, graphic arts, general woodwork and other industrial arts.

Approximately 30 of the entries will be sent to the Sacramento competition.

Tomorrow they will be on exhibit from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., in IA219, and high school teachers and students will tour the collection. The same evening, from 7-9 p.m., parents and students are invited. Coffee and cookies will be served.

All interested persons may view the entries during the tour hours.

Irving Howe Here Today

In conjunction with the Spring Festival of Arts, Irving Howe, editor of "Dissent" and a leader in the "little magazine movement," will discuss "The Intellectuals of the Thirties" today at 10:30 a.m. in Concert Hall.

Howe's approach to contemporary themes combines social history and literary criticism.

A professor of English at Stanford University, Howe has written books on William Faulkner, Sherwood Anderson and Walter Reuther. He is also a regular contributor to "Partisan Review," "Kenyon Review," "Hudson Review" and "Dissent."

A graduate of the City College of New York, Howe has taught at Brandeis University, the University of Vermont and the University of Washington.

Library Bids Due

Assemblyman William F. Stanton, (D-San Jose), announced yesterday that bids for the resurfacing and waterproofing of the library roof walking deck at SJS will soon be accepted.

A former economics professor at SJS, Stanton said the State Department of Public Works estimated the work will cost about $6,000.

Students Confess Ignorance Of Judiciary Discipline Function

By RON LEINIO

"Up until now I didn't know too much about the Judiciary." A student sitting before the group in a recent case gave that answer to a justice's question about the student's knowledge of the Judiciary. "Most students don't know too much about it," admits Chief Justice Jeff Davis.

About 5 years ago the College Life Committee took up the problem of student discipline. The group worked for about a year and a half to come up with the present judicial system, Davis recalled.

HANDLES PROBLEMS

Most cases reviewed by the Judiciary have to do with student discipline, but Davis explained "the judiciary is designated by the Constitution and Administration to handle student discipline problems and to review Constitutional problems."

"All cases involving student misconduct are brought to the Dean of Student's attention. He then notifies the Attorney General," Davis said.

Before a student is heard by the Judiciary, the group decides if the hearing will be open or closed. "Publicity already surrounding an individual before the cases reaches the Judiciary, the individuals position in the Student Body Assn., and the individual's request for a certain type of hearing are used to decide if a hearing is open or closed," Davis stated.

He outlined a typical session with the ASB. "The Judiciary listens to the case as reported by either Dean of Students Stanley C. Benz or Attorney General Mike Harris. The student is present in the room at this time.

INTERVIEWS STUDENTS

"The Judiciary interviews both the student and the Dean of Students or the Attorney General to determine how much the individual was involved in an act of misconduct."

"After the Judiciary is satisfied with the interview, the student and reporter are dismissed, but the Dean of Students or the Attorney General stay to answer additional questions, after which they also leave. Then the Judiciary deliberates to decide the penalty to be recommended."

A recommendation is made on the basis of "involvement, motivation, and responsibility for the violation, Davis declared.

The Chief Justice submits the Judiciary's recommendation to the Dean of Students. A student may be officially reprimanded, placed on probation, suspended, or expelled.

Dean of Students Stanley C. Benz explained that students often have a condition attached to their probation. For instance the student may be barred from participating in extra-curricular activities during his period of probation.

Dean Benz said students can be suspended for a maximum of 12 months. After the period of suspension, a student may apply for readmission.

It is often difficult for a student who has been suspended or permanently expelled from school to be admitted to another school, Dean Benz said.

Recently a SJS senior was suspended for bringing liquor into the college stadium. He was already on probation for a similar offense during last football season.

Graduation Interviews

Any student expecting to receive a baccalaureate degree this summer or in January 1964 must complete a personal interview before his graduation can be completed, according to Marge Johnson, graduation clerk.

Appointments can be made for the interview by signing a roster that will be available beginning May 9 in the Registrar's Office, Adm102.

Major and minor forms must be on file before the interview periods of May 13-31 and June 19-28.

Bids at Bookstore

Bids for the Spring Formal will be available free of charge to SJS students Monday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in front of the bookstore, according to Carol Jones, Social Affairs Committee publicity chairman.

The gala event will be held at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco on May 10 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Ernie Hecksher and his Fairmont Orchestra will play for the dance.

Award winners for the Lambda Chi Push Cart races slated for the afternoon of the dance will be presented at the evening event.

California Netters' Strength Proves San Jose Downfall

Rich Gugat picked up the only singles win and the team of Stillson Judah and Bob Adams the only doubles win yesterday, as the San Jose State varsity tennis squad was dumped by the University of California, 7-2, on the Spartan Courts.

Spartan No. 1 man Dick Drake pushed Cal's Jim McManus, probably the top player in Northern California, to three sets, before finally losing, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

Other Cal singles wins saw Doug Sykes dump Gordy Stroud, 6-4, 4-6, 6-0; Judah lost to Barry Baskin, 6-2, 6-4; Adams was defeated by Dick Abramson, 6-3, 7-5, and Tony Price whipped Mel Higginson, 6-2, 6-2. Gugat beat Bob Harper, 6-3, 6-3.

McManus and Sykes teamed to beat Drake and Stroud, 6-4, 7-5; Judah and Adams topped Baskin and Price, 6-4, 8-6, and Weeshoff and Olson nudged Gugat and Higginson, 6-4, 7-5.

In another match at the Spartan Courts, the Stanford frosh topped the San Jose State frosh, 6-3.

SPARTAN DAILY-5

Mermen To Compete In Three-Day Meet

San Jose State's 13-man swimming delegation, along with coach Tom O'Neill, heads south today to compete in the State College Championships set for Los Angeles State College, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

According to O'Neill, Long Beach State, which nosed SJS out by one point in last year's competition, should be favored to repeat. "I think we should get second," O'Neill said. He explained that two of the Spartans' top swimmers, Don Black and Jim Baugh, are not making the trip.

Competing for the SJS squad

In the three-day event will be Lee Anderson, Mike Hubbard, and Jim Johnson, diving; Nick Schoenmann, freestyle; Pete Sagues, freestyle; Jim Spear, freestyle and breaststroke; Herm Radloff, individual medley and freestyle; Jim Monsees, backstroke and individual medley; Al Kelley, backstroke; Dave Corbet, freestyle; Russ Powell, butterfly, and Jay Dore, breaststroke.

Three of these men are returning champions. Johnson won last year's diving title, but has competed in only one meet this year and will have a tough time repeating. Sagues won the 50-yard freestyle, and Corbet won the 100-yard freestyle last year.

O'Neill said he expects Schoenmann to win both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events this year. Spear could win the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events, O'Neill added. "He's been sick the last week, and the times are good at L.A. State and Long Beach State, so he'll have a real battle."

O'Neill is also looking forward to a win in the freestyle relay. The probable team for this event would be Schoenmann, Spear, Corbet and Sagues.

Poloists Begin Spring Drills

San Jose State's annual spring water polo workouts will resume tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. when some 42 athletes splash into Spartan pool to prime for the May 17 exhibition match against the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Spartan mentor Lee Walton is losing six of his seven 1962 starters and will undergo an extreme rebuilding process this spring.

A list of seven returning lettermen is headed by Pete Sagues, an all-state second team member last season. Also returning are Dave Corbet, Dave Adams, Jim Spear, Herm Radloff, Dick Riddle and Al Kelley.

Up from the championship freshman team are Ray Arveson, Bill Parker, Rich Holz, Al Hubbard, Jeff Logan, Bruce Hobbes and Bill Howse.

Volleyball Tonight

The annual all-College volleyball tournament gets under way this evening at 7 on the courts sandwiched between the men's and women's dorms. The tourney is sponsored by the Co-ordinating Board of College Recreation.

Cal Aggies Stop Varsity Nine, 8-6

The University of California Aggies of Davis snapped a four-game San Jose State winning streak Monday, topping the Spartan glovemen, 8-6, despite being outth, 15-11.

Jack Anderson hit a three run home run in the sixth inning, as the Aggies scored seven runs in that frame to overcome a Spartan lead.

Gary Vice and Miles Yamamoto each hit a triple for San Jose. The Spartans, who are 7-0 in league competition, have won only four non-league contests.

Fishback Takes Steeplechase Event As Lone American Representative

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Jeff Fishback of San Jose State won the 3,000-meter steeplechase at the Pan-American Games yesterday. His time of 9:07.9 gave him a 50-yard margin of victory over second-place Sebastian Mendes of Brazil.

Fishback was the only American entry in the steeplechase, as American record holder George Young of New Mexico scratched after X-ray tests revealed he may have pneumonia in his left upper chest.

American coach Lou Montgomery of Cornell, after Young was informed he shouldn't run, made a determined bid to get approval for distance star Charlie Clark, formerly of San Jose State, to run in the 3,000-meter gruelier. Clark had earlier finished second in the 5,000-meter run.

All efforts failed and Fishback entered the race as the only American entry. But, the Spartan team captain from San Mateo had his own visions of winning.

The 6-3, 165-pound senior grew strong in the latter stages of the race, and entered the final lap commanding a 100-yard lead over his nearest opponent.

Mendes made his bid on the last lap, but Fishback, although weakening considerably, held on for the biggest margin of victory at the Pan-American spectacle this year.

Fishback's winning time wasn't a new record. But, the pressure of being the United State's sole representative made his victory all the more impressive.

Mendes hit the finish line in 9:12.8, with Uruguay's Abertino Etchechurry third in 9:17.3.

It is the hope of those behind Saturday's Record Meet that Fishback will be back in time to run a scheduled steeplechase at Spartan Field.
